This mission directive prescribes the mission and establishes the responsibilities for Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC) medical squadrons (MDS).

1. Mission:

1.1. Peacetime. The mission of the medical squadron is to train assigned personnel to provide a level of mission readiness sufficient to assure the health of the military community for maximum wartime readiness and combat capability. They provide medical support (if applicable) for authorized wing personnel to the greatest extent possible in peacetime to ensure the wing is medically fit to meet its wartime mission.

1.2. Wartime/Emergencies. Governed by gaining command directives upon mobilization.

2. Command. MDS are USAF-controlled AFRC units assigned to AFRC wings or medical groups. Their peace time structure design maintains effective operations with the least expenditure of resources and minimizes organizational turbulence upon wartime mobilization. MDS functionally align for structural compatibility with their active duty counterparts.

3. Assigned Forces. While in peacetime status and during 2 weeks of annual training, MDS are under the direct control and supervision of the AFRC wing or group to which assigned. Under Presidential call-up pursuant to Title 10 U.S.C. 12304, administrative jurisdiction remains unchanged. Operational control transfers to the commander of the gaining command. Under mobilization authority, command jurisdiction transfers to the commander of the unit to which assigned.

4. Relationships to Other Units. Established command channels apply. Communicate directly with the active duty advisory unit/active duty advisors is authorized on matters directly relating to training, inspection, and safety. Send copy of such correspondence to the respective MDS, wing and regional support group/SG.
